All The Ways to be Smart

By Davina Bell & Allison Colpoys

My favourite types of books to read are books with lots of rhyming words and this one does not disappoint. I love the illustrations in this book which really excite your imagination. I also love the colourful language including nonsense words to help the rhyme carry on. The main focus within this story is to remember we are all smart in our own special way!

I Want my Hat Back

By Jon Klassen

I love reading books that make me laugh and this one makes me giggle every time I open it.

It's a story about a bear who has lost his hat. When asking the other animals if they know where it is, he comes across one or two hilarious surprises. I also love Jon Klassen's simple but effective illustrations that give across lots of character.

The Naughtiest Unicorn

By Pip Bird

This is the first book in the naughtiest unicorn series and I love it! Within the series Mira begins unicorn school and is very excited to start. However when her unicorn turns out to be fat, smelly, lazy and unhelpful her time there becomes a totally different adventure. This book is so funny and just silly it made me laugh out loud all the way through!

The Unlucky Eleven

By Phil Earle

I love playing football with my friends so I love books about football too! This book is about the most unlucky team in the entire world. Everything seems to go wrong!

This is a Barrington Stoke book so the writing is nicely spaced out on the page. This makes it less overwhelming and much easier to read!
